

Agile, Applied: Conversations with Local Leaders

Is your business or organization using Agile? Are you looking to deepen your practice, troubleshoot a sticky situation, or see how others in our region are growing and succeeding with various Agile methodologies? Join Kirkwood Community College and various local Agile practitioners for lunch at Agile, Applied: Conversations with Local Leaders.

This series of peer-learning lunches is an opportunity to hear from prominent local businesses about what flavor of Agile they use, the benefits they've seen, and roadblocks they've faced. Each lunch will feature a 30-minute interview, followed by open question-and-answer, and time for networking before and after.
